Pedagogies in the Flesh

Case Studies on the Embodiment of Sociocultural Differences in Education

- ▶ Explores the pedagogical moments or “flashpoints” when sociocultural formations of difference and power take hold through the corporeal capacities of the knowing body
- ▶ Features concisely written accounts of flashpoints that attend to the somatic intensities of the flesh as a site of knowledge, resistance, and transformation
- ▶ Contributors range from a number of disciplines including philosophy, sociology, women’s studies, and education
- ▶ Presents rich phenomenologically informed case studies of educational encounters within difference, and demonstrates description as a method for thinking about critical incidents of teaching and learning

This book presents a collection of vivid, theoretically informed descriptions of flashpoints—educational moments when the implicit sociocultural knowledge carried in the body becomes a salient feature of experience. The flashpoints will ignite critical reflection and dialogue about the formation of the self, identity, and social inequality on the level of the preconscious body.
